When your people are counting on you, count on us.™

Capitalize on Your Investment

You've made an investment in your current payroll solution. ADP makes efficient use of existing payroll-related data from your enterprise system with no re-keying of information required. As an ADP hosted, Internet-based application, ADP FundDirect provides a real-time response that can be integrated back into your system, allowing instant visibility to total debit amounts in financial and other applications.

Benefit from Economies of Scale

The constant need to upgrade systems is expensive and often results in lost productivity due to downtime. With a hosted application, there is no additional hardware required or software that needs to be managed or updated. Updates occur on the ADP server, providing you with instant access to new or enhanced functionality. This hosted model translates to savings in the total cost of ownership over other solutions that require you to maintain IT responsibility for hardware or software.

Minimize Your Risk

It's not always easy to keep up on all the latest legislative changes. With ADP FundDirect, all tax remittance procedures are fully automated, minimizing your exposure to potentially expensive compliance penalties. And, when you take advantage of our statutory remittance service, ADP assumes responsibility for managing your payments to the appropriate tax authorities.

Enjoy the Convenience of a Truly Flexible Solution

Providing convenience without sacrificing functionality, ADP FundDirect is built on a unique service model that allows you to:

- Make use of any or all of ADP FundDirect's payment services – including employee direct deposits, tax and statutory remittances, as well as third-party disbursements
- Send multiple payments per employee without restriction
- Post-date payments up to 92 days in advance

Best of all, you don't have to change software, schedules, or processes to reap the benefits of ADP FundDirect.
